Dispatcher is the first fully functional Updater for Windows software. Dispatcher allows you to distribute your Windows software to your end users without having to rely on them to manually download and install a bulky update. The Dispatcher provides a fully featured wizard-like interface to install a new or updated version of your software to the end user's PC without having to manually download the patch from the Internet. Dispatcher is completely free software. No charge is ever required. The Dispatcher provides a simple but effective way to update your software. After a new version of your software is released, you can simply create a new Dispatcher file, select your software, and hit the 'Update' button. This button will perform the magic required to automatically generate a binary patch file (which Dispatcher will upload to the website specified). The Dispatcher can update your software to any new or existing version. Once you've updated your software, your end user's PC is automatically patched to the new version of the software. The Dispatcher is a powerful Windows Updater that will run your software on your end user's PC and automatically download any changes required to their system. The Dispatcher provides a simple wizard interface for you to specify exactly what you want to update in your software. The Dispatcher also provides easy ways to generate a patch for each and every Windows edition that your software will run on. For example, the Dispatcher can generate a patch for a PC running Windows 2000 (i.e. Windows 2000 Professional). The Dispatcher can also run for the 32-bit and 64-bit Windows versions. With the Dispatcher, you don't need to worry about manually dealing with your end users' PCs. You just upload your new patch and the Dispatcher takes care of the rest. The Dispatcher comes with a simple wizard-like interface. The Dispatcher provides a feature where the end user can specify the exact point they want to be patched. The Dispatcher provides a feature where the end user can specify the exact date and time they want to be patched. The Dispatcher provides a feature where the end user can specify the exact location they want to be patched. The Dispatcher provides a feature where the end user can specify a specific process to be patched. The Dispatcher provides a feature where the end user can specify a specific process to be unpatched.
