DeskCaptur's unusual name will leave you with no doubt that this simple application was only created to perform a single task – to take screenshots from the desktop. If you have ever created a desktop shortcut or a shortcut to your applications on your desktop, you will surely have noticed that the image captured by this application looks much better than a shot taken using most other screen-shot tools. In other words, DeskCaptur is a very simple application, but it is surprisingly easy to use. All you need to do is simply drag the desktop shortcut to the desktop, and the program will launch the right-click menu, from which you can capture the screen. Thanks to its simplistic interface, the application is suitable for beginners, and the quality of the captures is quite good. Reliable and free But this is just the beginning! In fact, in addition to taking simple screenshots, you can also upload them to Imgur without having to use any additional programs. If you want to do that, you will have to add the URL for your account to the desktop shortcut manually. Moreover, this free software can be fully updated, and the latest version is always available from its developer's website, so you can rest assured that DeskCaptur will always continue to work as it is supposed to. As for the privacy of your data, it's safe with DeskCaptur. No personal information is stored, and all of it is automatically deleted from your machine, after you have taken a single screenshot. Intuitive interface As mentioned before, there is nothing too fancy about DeskCaptur. It simply offers you the chance to save the screen to a file or upload it to Imgur, so there is no need to install any additional software. Moreover, this application offers you the option to upload each screenshot directly from the right-click menu. However, for reasons known only to the developers, you can only upload the last image taken using the program. Captures screenshots of your selected window or area, and inserts the screenshot right into your imgur URL. Update 4.6.2: 4.6.2 has fixes in that if a user clicks outside the window and they are scrolling down, if the window scrolls to the bottom it will scroll back up to where they were in case they got too far and clicked a link. It also fixes the issue where if someone decides to log out it would start uploading and then they decided they were not going to log in and stop the upload mid process, so it will now do a post logout cleanup. Version 4.5.2: 4.5.2 fixes the issue of a picture being uploaded and then the user starting the upload again and it going out of the image URL, they need to literally click on the thumbnail to start the upload again. Also Fixed the issue that the program would not release files when user clicks on the program icon. Version 4.3.2: 4.3.2 Updated to latest

What's New in the?

ImgurUploader is a simple, yet functional utility that enables users to upload images to the popular photo sharing website of the same name. ImgurUploader is a very straightforward tray application that enables you to capture screenshots and upload them to Imgur instantly, as well as upload any picture that is already stored on your hard drive. Small system tray app for those who wish to avoid clutter The program does not come with a classic GUI, as you can control everything from the system tray menu and Settings panel. Only the tray icon is ever displayed, so you can rest assured that the application will not get in your way. It is also worth noting that you don't actually need to install anything before running the utility, as you just have to unpack the downloaded archive. Simple desktop capture tool that can upload content to Imgur With ImgurUploader, you can take a snapshot of the current screen, or all connected displays, and the program will upload it to Imgur automatically. The picture's URL will be copied to the clipboard, and you can specify whether or not it should also be saved locally. You can also use this program to upload images that have already been saved on your computer, a feature that will often come in handy. Easy-to-use, but it could use a few additions Sadly, the application does not allow you to take screenshots of specific windows or areas of the desktop, as it can only perform full-screen captures. Moreover, it is worth mentioning that you cannot use hotkeys to capture content or upload images, which would have saved you quite a bit of time and effort. In short, ImgurUploader is a lightweight, reliable but pretty basic application that needs a bit more work. It can be useful for those who often upload screenshots to Imgur, but it would benefit from a couple of extra features.
