This Game THESPHONE GAMES iOS App Game Since this is a game where you can play it everywhere you go, I'm assuming you're gonna use the phone in your pocket. The following is based on iPhone. The Basics: Platform: iOS Available for: iPhone 5s and up Available on: App Store This game is quite an interesting one. It uses a little bit of twitch game play and the first-person 2D perspective. At first, the game looks like a puzzle game, because of the minimalistic button click process and the focus on the central item. There is no story line, so the characters Jack and Tom are just elements. You can manipulate them through tapping the screen, to create new combinations and get the game completed. The end result is an average experience for both, kids and adults. The best part of this game is the styling, soundtrack and the game-theme. Read on for more details... Game Mechanics: The game consists of 3 parts. The first part is called "collection" and it is where you have to collect and use magic items. In order to collect an item, you tap the screen and it appears in the center. The game doesn't show you what's inside, so you have to guess and figure it out. The second part is "dungeon" and it is where the game gets interesting. This part is about the little character Jack and his followers. While exploring the city, you encounter a number of dark places and their relation with the word-game protagonist. "Dungeon" consists of

What's new:

Update As of today the latest status of the headquarters are:- 30% of the building is now a work in progress (2 months in) - Building is now 1/3 finished (2 months in) - Building has been finished, and is ready to move in. Minor issues though (eg. We'll see if we can patch the leaks for example) - Each SCO can start removing their unchangeable plots from the wasteland soon, and should be able to claim it after that - Early access to the first new (Forged In Battle, Inc) loyalty booster in 4 months - On the way to Lost Blight, we're almost entirely complete with the wasteland map, and working hard on our new site for the headquarters (End of the Line) site! - Most of the activities in the war channels should start up shortly, and we don't really need anyone's help to do that - Most of the activities in the non-wasteland channels should start up shortly too. A few people have already signed up for local missions on the stuff, so we're almost entirely set-up for that if we need any help. Rules of The Forge: - Be patient with the start of activity, sometimes it takes a little time to get the game back up-and-running again. - Ask for help if you run into any problems as it will save us time fixing them if we know about them beforehand. Don't wait for the game to break before you ask for help. - Sticking to the Forgeworld rules will make everyone happy, so if something goes rogue, everyone WILL know about it, and address it. - The aim is to keep things friendly and well-run. We need you happy! And when you are, you're a great asset to the team. - The Forges are the Social Hub of the game, so use it to communicate with the team, bring people into the community, and generally get to know each other as players and OOCs. We highly recommend that everyone has a look at the Rules of the Forge before they start their SCO. If you've got any questions, stop by our rules forum on the website and ask. Now, here's a collection of pictures of the newly completed building, and the ongoing project status,
