A: You can change your settings in the FTP client, select your host in the FTP, open the Settings, and then change the Preferred encryption to Cifs. You can do it also in the command line with the `-C / --cifs` option, but it's easier with the tool. You can also try to enable it using a telnet session, but I'm not sure you can enter the password with it. Q: Understanding git hooks I am trying to setup a git repository for my work. It has a folder of subfolders and inside each subfolder are a number of cs files. There are a number of other cs files in the root of the repository as well. I also have a .gitignore file. I ran into some errors when trying to setup the .gitignore file and just want to figure out what I'm doing wrong with the .gitignore file. Here is my content for the .gitignore file: `# Do not show any files that begin with a '.' /directory /directory/* /directory/*.cs` I have read that this should be what I am looking for. I have to admit I am not entirely familiar with what some of these means or what this means exactly. I have some confusion about the `# Do not show any files that begin with a '.'` meaning that nothing should be ignored that begins with a dot and there are some cs files in the directory and I am not sure that I understand the content of the file. I'm not sure if this is the correct way to setup the .gitignore file or if it has something to do with the .gitignore file. I am trying to setup a github repository. Does anybody know what I am doing wrong or can somebody help me figure it out? A: Does anybody know what I am doing wrong or can somebody help me figure it out? Git is almost entirely about ignoring items/paths, so take this with a grain of salt: I think your .gitignore is fine. What I mean is: If you want to ignore files/paths that begin with. (the "dot"), then you need to put an "exclamation mark" in front of your path, like this: `/dir/!` the `# Do not show any files that begin with a '.'` As far as that goes, you say this:

Muchas gracias. A: El problema es que $_POST está vacío. Las etiquetas de los formularios y los datos que están en estas no se pueden enviar a la otra página. Para poder llevar variables desde una página a otra, utilizar el envío de $_GET o $_POST. Si quieres poder enviar datos desde una página a otra, usa el método $_POST. Para obtenerlo, debes dejar la información en una etiqueta de los formularios o utilizar la función get_post. get_post() Esta función define una variable con las respuestas de los formularios. Se pueden incluir varios formularios en una sola variable. De esta manera, se pueden agregar todas las variables desde la url: $variable_1 = get_post('fecha_de_nacimiento'); $variable_2 = get_post('nombre_de_persona'); $variable_1 = get_post('fecha_de_nacimiento'); $variable_2 = get_post('nombre_de_persona'); $variable_1 = get_post('fecha_de_nacimiento'); $variable_2 = get_post('nombre_de_persona'); Los parámetros para get_post son siempre el nombre de la etiqueta, el nombre del formulario y el método que queremos obtener la información de. Por ejemplo: var_dump(get_post('fecha_de_nacimiento')); // Retorna: string(10) "fecha_de_nacimiento" var_dump(get_post('nombre_de_persona')); // Retorna: string(9) "nombre_de_persona" var_dump(get_ 648931e174

The data in the table above shows the confidence of the detection of the file type for each product, please keep in mind that the information provided by the anti-virus software product is based on the files that it has downloaded from the Internet. The files that are on your computer, the ones that are stored on your hard drive or other storage media the ones that are stored on network locations, the ones that are sent to you by email or the ones that you installed on your computer manually, etc., are not detected by anti-virus software. A: I'll answer your specific questions separately: this is a text file of about 30 pages, The.txt extension is a very common text file format, but is not actually limited to text files. seems like this is an image, It could be a PDF or a text file. in the end, they combine together, You don't need to do that, for example. I use vim, That is good for textual editing and text processing, but you can use other programs for text processing (for example, python or php), which do not have to be in a command-line tool (there are programs which are already graphical). so I need to change the line endings to Unix format () That's not specific to vim, but to different file formats such as text files. and then need to unzip it to get this "cat11.02.12-5.pdf", It is not clear to me what you are doing here. Are you trying to unzip this file? If so, for what purpose? Is there a way to get the data from text files into a format that excel allows me to simply copy? You can use a variety of tools for this, if you want to extract the text for your spreadsheet. The problem is that if you want to do this as part of a bigger application, then how do you know that the files you are extracting are indeed all text files? I need to extract data from CAT questions papers, so I will have to unzip all the files together. I'd recommend you unzip just the files for the CAT exam, because the tools you use to unzip files will provide additional features you can use for your homework files.
