Elden Ring stands for the world's only RPG that connects all of your RPGs into one world. Each player can connect to the world and become a character not through real characters, but through a variety of virtual items that appear on the 3D character creation screen. With the support of the powerful functionalities of the RPG system, strong virtual items are being manufactured, and players can obtain them by providing feedback through gameplay.

CONNECT TO AN ONLINE WORLD THROUGH VIRTUAL ITEMS: Players can become a character through a range of character components like weapons, armors, and gear, as well as magical gems, along with participating in battles with other players through the online features of the game. The players who can provide the most feedback to the brand-new virtual items are to be rewarded with the highest level gear, while the ones who can provide the most information on newly occurring events are rewarded

CLASS AND CHARACTER DESIGN: Instead of having a single number for skill points as in most RPGs, the Elden Ring has 2 points for a single skill, including a base point and a specialization point. Thus, depending on the class characteristics and the specialization, there are 3 types of skill sets. All classes can increase a certain effect point by equipping an item with the skill, and specializations can increase a different element by equipping an item with a skill and an element modifier. The moving speed of enemies and the mobility of characters has been increased, and various actions such as Rage, which can be performed when enemies are in your sight, have been added.
