The book, 'Parasite,' written by journalist Ronan Farrow and former attorney and NBC News contributor Alan Dershowitz, outlines how Trump has sought to interfere with special counsel Robert Mueller's investigation. They claim in their book that Trump directed that his former longtime lawyer Michael Cohen 'lie' to Congress during the inquiry into Russia's meddling in the 2016 election - and that he did so at the direction of the president. Cohen pleaded guilty to lying to Congress about Trump's alleged involvement in a plan to build a Trump Tower in Moscow during the 2016 presidential campaign. Cohen's admission that he lied to Congress - at the direction of Trump, they write - is widely seen as an attempt by Trump to discredit the Russia investigation, and prevent Mueller from completing his report. Farrow and Dershowitz write in their book about Trump seeking to block Mueller's investigation. They write that Trump instructed Cohen to tell congressional investigators that his president's business dealings had ended years earlier, a claim Trump did not initially make, and that Trump directed Cohen to lie about the president's involvement in the Trump Tower Moscow project. The book is being reviewed by the publisher. That cover story was apparently designed to distance Trump from a project that Cohen says he accepted money from Russian lawyer Natalia Veselnitskaya on his behalf to advance in October 2016. Former lawyer Michael Cohen (left and right) pleaded guilty to lying to Congress about President Donald Trump's alleged involvement in a plan to build a Trump Tower in Moscow during the 2016 presidential campaign Dershowitz, an emeritus law professor, said he believes the book is accurate. 'The evidence in the book has been corroborated in part by a story in the New York Times that I wrote in June about Trump's pressuring Cohen, and why he was so furious with him,' Dershowitz told the Washington Post. 'That story was validated by indictments and other information that came out in the beginning of August.' Trump has denied knowing of any plan to build a Trump Tower in Moscow. But F
