Hoffmann says: I am currently working on a 3D printer that prints plastic 3D models. It prints a lot of small parts in layers and the parts keep getting smaller as the layers are added. Last night, everything was fine, but I haven't been able to print for about 20 minutes. Now, if I bring up a model to print in stereolithography I just see a blank screen in the bottom left of my 3D model. I haven't modified any of the settings in over a week. Please help. I'm using the latest version of your software and AutoCAD which is currently it on the latest patch.
